School of Government, UNC Chapel Hill

The School of Government at The University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill works to improve the lives of North Carolinians by engaging in practical scholarship that helps public officials and citizens understand and improve state and local government.

The core components of the School are the Institute of Government, which provides educational, advisory, and research services for state and local governments; and the two-year Master of Public Administration Program. The School also sponsors centers focused on information technology management and youth civic education that are of significant importance to North Carolina's government and citizens. School of Government faculty members annually publish up to fifty books, bulletins, and other reference works related to state and local government. Each day that the General Assembly is in session, the Daily Bulletin, available in print and electronic formats, reports on the day's activities for members of the legislature and others who need to follow the course of legislation.

State appropriations, local government membership dues, private contributions, publication sales, course fees, and service contracts support the School's programs and activities.

Public Schools and Pregnant and Parenting Adolescents: A Legal Guide

ANNE M. DELLINGER

Explains relatively clear legal requirements that apply to pregnant and parenting students; offers interpretation of less-clear parts of the law; and sometimes ventures predictions about unresolved legal questions. Refers to the literature on adolescent pregnancy and relays advice from school professionals and others. Designed to make caring for pregnant and parenting adolescents easier and to ensure they benefit as much as possible from their schooling. Intended for superintendents, principals, school board members, school attorneys, counselors, school nurses and psychologists, social workers, teachers, administrators, and state education officials. Third in a series explaining the law to pregnant and parenting adolescents, their parents, and the professionals who work with them. Supported by the Z. Smith Reynolds Foundation, the School of Government at UNC Chapel Hill, the Karl and Anna Ginter Foundation, and the Mary Norris Preyer Fund. Other books in the series are Health Care for Pregnant Adolescents: A Legal Guide, Social Services for Pregnant and Parenting Adolescents: A Legal Guide, and the forthcoming Pregnancy and Parenting: A Legal Guide for Adolescents and Their Parents. The first two are now available on-line, at www.adolescentpregnancy.unc.edu, with the others to be posted on-line after publication.
