Kolczak v. Johnson, 260 NC App 208 \(2018\)

- Trial court found civil contempt for violations of custody order:
  - failing to inform father of certain events as required by the custody order,
  - failing to give father the right of first refusal when she needed childcare for the child as specified in the custody order,
  - allowing her husband to be present when the children were at her home when order provided that children were to have no contact with the husband, and
  - scheduling the children for camps during times that interfered with father's custodial time with the children.
- Court of Appeals stated:
  - It is not "apparent how an appropriate civil purge condition could coerce the defendant to comply with the court order as opposed to punishing her for a past violation."

- Criminal or Civil ???:
- “Defendant is guilty of ... contempt and ordered an active sentence of thirty days in [jail] suspended on the following conditions:
  - Defendant's posting of a cash bond or security of at least $75,000.00 to secure and assure the timely payment of future cash child support;
  - Defendant immediately paying Plaintiff's attorney the sum of $212.52, "representing interest on the four delinquent child support payments";
  - Defendant timely paying each cash child support amount due; and Defendant immediately paying $10,000.00 in attorney's fees."

Criminal contempt - Grounds

- (1) Willful behavior committed during the sitting of a court and directly tending to interrupt its proceedings.
- (2) Willful behavior committed during the sitting of a court in its immediate view and presence and directly tending to impair the respect due its authority.
- (3) Willful disobedience of, resistance to, or interference with a court's lawful process, order, directive, or instruction or its execution.
- (4) Willful refusal to be sworn or affirmed as a witness, or, when so sworn or affirmed, willful refusal to answer any legal and proper question when the refusal is not legally justified.
- (5) Willful publication of a report of the proceedings in a court that is grossly inaccurate and presents a clear and present danger of imminent and serious threat to the administration of justice, made with knowledge that it was false or with reckless disregard of whether it was false. No person, however, may be punished for publishing a truthful report of proceedings in a court.
- (6) Willful or grossly negligent failure by an officer of the court to perform his duties in an official transaction.
- (7) Willful or grossly negligent failure to comply with schedules and practices of the court resulting in substantial interference with the business of the court.
- (8) Willful refusal to testify or produce other information upon the order of a judge acting pursuant to Article 61 of Chapter 15A, Granting of Immunity to Witnesses.
- (9) Willful communication with a juror in an improper attempt to influence his deliberations.
- (9a) Willful refusal by a defendant to comply with a condition of probation.
- (9b) Willful refusal to accept post-release supervision or to comply with the terms of post-release supervision by a prisoner whose offense requiring post-release supervision is a reportable conviction subject to the registration requirement of Article 27A of Chapter 14 of the General Statutes. — "Willful refusal to accept post-release supervision or to comply with the terms of post-release supervision" includes, but is not limited to, knowingly violating the terms of post-release supervision in order to be returned to prison to serve out the remainder of the supervisee's sentence.

Contempt and Cellphones

Posted on May 1, 2012, 10:11 am by Michael Crowell • 2 comments

A couple of this blog's recent Friday News Roundups have linked offbeat stories about contempt and cellphones. In the first a Michigan judge held himself in contempt and ordered a $25 fine when his cellphone rang in court. The second story was the federal Sixth Circuit upholding a 30-day contempt sentence for a courtroom spectator caught texting in federal district court. Actually it was more than that, as he later admitted to also using his phone to photograph his friend being sentenced. After all, what are friends for?

Some readers might be wondering about contempt and cellphones in North Carolina courtrooms. In the Tar Heel state you might be held in contempt if your phone goes off, though not necessarily. Here is a brief primer on contempt and some observations about cellphones.

There are two kinds of contempt, civil and criminal. Civil contempt is used only when a person is currently disobeying a court order, and its only sanction is to lock up the person until they comply with the order. The most common example is the deadbeat father not paying child support. He does not get a set sentence; he stays in jail until he pays, and he gets out just as soon as he catches up on the support.

Criminal contempt can be for any of a number of behaviors listed in the statute. The most common are disrupting or showing disrespect for the court, not following the court schedule, refusing to testify, it's shouting at the judge, cursing, refusing to sit down, coming late to court — the stuff people usually think about when they hear the word "contempt." Refusing to obey a court order also may be criminal contempt, just as it may be civil contempt. But it can't be both, the judge has to choose one, either civil or criminal contempt. The difference between the two is that criminal contempt is used to punish the person for past behavior; civil contempt is used to get the person to comply. Criminal contempt carries a set punishment which can be a fine of up to $500 and/or jail for up to 30 days; civil contempt is jail until the order is complied with.

The ringing cellphone in court, or texting or taking photos, would be criminal contempt, not civil.

Consecutive Sentences for Criminal Contempt

Posted on Aug 11, 2016, 3:37 am by James Marshall • 2 comments

One of the first posts I wrote on the blog was about the punishment for criminal contempt. The post included a discussion about whether sentences for contempt could be run consecutively—something our appellate courts hadn’t yet ruled on at the time. In State v. Burrow, decided last week, the court of appeals approved a trial court’s orders sentencing a defendant to six consecutive 30-day terms of imprisonment for contempt.

Burrow involved a defendant tried and convicted for attempted felony breaking or entering. He was also convicted of being a habitual felon, raising the punishment class for the attempted breaking or entering from Class 1 to Class 2. The jury found an aggravating factor. The judge found that it outweighed the lone mitigating factor and sentenced the defendant from the top of the aggravated range for Prior Record Level VI: 63–88 months.

In addition to the felony sentence, the court entered six orders finding the defendant guilty of direct criminal contempt. The appellate opinion in Burrow doesn’t give much detail about what happened, but the trial court orders themselves, available as part of the appellate record, do.

The Court finds beyond a reasonable doubt that during this session of Court and during the defendant’s trial on Tuesday, 12 May 2015, in Surry County, in the absence of the jury and just before receiving the verdict in the second phase of the defendant’s jury trial, when the Court was instructing the defendant’s wife, Ms. Amber Childress, not to move about the courtroom

“Summary opportunity to respond”

In re Korfmann, 786 S.E.2d 768 (N.C. App. 2016).

Trial judge:

This Court takes the strong position that technology is not to be utilized by jurors and, in fact, this jury has been warned several times not to use.

In my opinion the utilization by the juror is blatantly disrespecting the Court's order not to use.

Sir, I think that what I am going to do with you is I am going to send you to Wilson County Jail for 30 days for failing to follow the order given to you by this Court.

The ladies and gentlemen of this jury are now excused. You can get a certificate as to where you have been for the last several days. You are excused.

This gentleman is in your custody.

Civil contempt – purge conditions

- Present ability to do (not future, open-ended, or “indefinite” (Wellons, 229 N.C. App. 164 (2013))
  - Yes: D must “pay $1000”; or D must “turn over the car to plaintiff”
  - No:
    - “D must pay child support obligations as they come due”
    - “D must pay $500 per month”
    - “D may not remove the child from North Carolina in the future without court permission.” Ning Gao (2013)
- Clear conditions.
  - Yes: “Pay $x.” “Deliver car to Plaintiff’s home.” “Execute x document.” “Pay child’s outstanding tuition.” “Pay existing credit card balance.” (Watson 2007)
  - No:
    - “D shall not harass or interfere with Plaintiff’s custody of the children.” Scott v. Scott, 157 N.C. App. 382 (2003)
    - “D shall not at any time...punish the minor children in any manner that is stressful, abusive, or detrimental.” Cox v. Cox, 133 N.C. App. 221 (1999)

GS 5A-22(a)

- A person imprisoned for civil contempt must be released when his civil contempt no longer continues.
- The order of the court holding a person in civil contempt must specify how the person may purge himself of the contempt.

---

---

---

Watson v. Watson
187 NC App 55 (2007)

- “A civil contempt proceeding does not command the procedural and evidentiary safeguards that are required by criminal contempt proceedings.”

• Why??

49

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

Civil contempt

- Contemnor must 'hold the keys to the jail'
- Because contemnor can walk out of the jail at any time, there is no right to counsel or other safeguards required in criminal cases where liberty is in jeopardy
  - Turner v. Rogers, 564 US 431 (2011)(no right to counsel for child support contempt)
  - Cf. McBride v. McBride, 334 NC 124 (1993)(right to counsel for child support contempt)
  - Wilson v. Guinyard, 254 NC App 229(2017)(right to counsel in non-child support civil contempt is determined on a case-by-case basis)

Civil Contempt Procedure

- Civil initiated either by:
  - Motion filed by a party,
    - GS 5A-23(a1)
  - Show cause order from court,
    - GS 5A-23
    - No statutory authority to issue order for arrest for failing to show up
- If initiated by motion, moving party has burden of going forward at hearing
- If initiated by show cause order, respondent obligor has burden of going forward at hearing.

51

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

Civil Contempt Procedure

Show cause cannot issue unless judicial official determines, based on verified motion and sworn statement, there is probable cause to believe obligor is in civil contempt.

The finding of probable cause justifies the shifting of the burden of presenting evidence in the contempt trial

- Requires information sufficient to warrant a prudent man in believing obligor is in civil contempt
