Where you come in

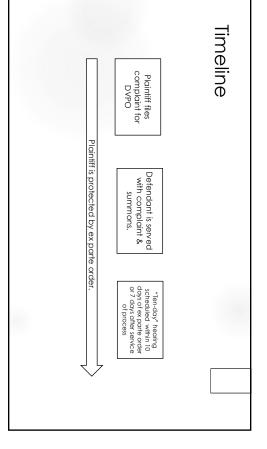

- All magistrates in the criminal section are likely to be involved at the enforcement stage.
- Magistrates authorized by their chief district court judge are also involved at a very early stage of the civil proceedings.

An ex parte DVPO is a temporary order put in place to protect the plaintiff during the time before the case comes to trial.

An ex parte DVPO issued by a magistrate is an even briefer order put in place to protect the planifit until a district own judge can conduct a hearing on the request for an ex parte order.

Violence Protective Orders GS Chapter 50B: Domestic

- Any NC resident can file a lawsuit asking for protection for herself or for a child residing with her or in her custody because the defendant has committed acts of DV. This is a civil action, and like all civil actions, it is initiated when a plaintiff files a complaint or a motion in an existing civil proceeding.
- No lawyer is required, and no court costs or other fees are charged
- The remedy requested by the plaintiff is a coercive order directing or prohibiting the defendant from engaging in certain acts.
- Enforceable by contempt or criminal charge of violating DVPO.

LEGAL ISSUES IN DOMESTIC VIOLENCE

SOME BASIC INFORMATION ABOUT DOMESTIC VIOLENCE PROTECTIVE ORDERS¹

G.S. Ch. 50B creates a special kind of civil action in which the relief sought is protection from injury by the defendant, in the form of a coercive order by a judge prohibiting the defendant from taking certain actions. If the defendant knowingly violates the order, he may be found in contempt of court for violation of a court order. The defendant also may be found guilty of the crime of violating a DVPO.

be found guilty of the crime of violating a DVI o.
A special kind of DVPO is available to a plaintiff who fears that she may be injured during the interval between filing the complaint and the time the hearing is held. What statistica fact suggests that this concern of plaintiffs is often well-founded?
A person seeking a DVPO has the option of asking for an ex parte DVPO as well. An ex parte DVPO is a protective order already in place before the defendant learns that the victim has filed for a DVPO. An ex parte DVPO is issued following a hearing conducted in the absence of the defendant. What concern does this raise in your mind?
Magistrates never issue final DVPOs, but in some counties magistrates are authorized to determine whether an ex parte DVPO should issue. Authorized magistrates may conduct hearings on requests for ex parte DVPOs only if (1) district court is not in session, and (2) no district court judge will be available to conduct the hearing for at least four hours.
Has your chief district court judge authorized magistrates to issue ex parte DVPO's? Never Only during conferences or other relatively rare occasions Theoretically, but we are strongly urged to use criminal charges when possible Yes

¹ This outline refers to the victim of domestic violence as "the plaintiff" or "she", and the perpetrator of domestic violence as "the defendant" or "he", but any of these terms may be inaccurate in a specific case. The terms are used consistently in order to avoid confusion and were chosen because they are accurate in the majority of cases. In fact, though, a significant minority of victims of domestic violence are male. And because a person may seek a DVPO either by filing a civil action or by filing a motion in an already-existent civil action, that person may be a plaintiff or a defendant.

An ex parte DVPO issued by a magistrate is valid until midnight of the next day district court is in session. A district court judge will conduct another ex parte hearing when court

Particular behavior qualifies as domestic violence only if the defendant: -- tried to cause physical injury; -- intentionally caused physical injury; -- behaved in a way that caused the plaintiff, a member of her family, or a member of her household, to be afraid of imminent serious bodily injury; -- behaved in a way that caused the plaintiff, a member of her family, or a member of her household, to be afraid that defendant will continue to torment or terrorize that person to such a degree that the person experiences significant mental suffering. This behavior must be intentional on the part of the defendant, and it must have no legitimate purpose. The statute refers to this behavior as harassment. -- committed any act defined as rape or sexual offense in GS 14-27.2 to 14-27.7. If a magistrate determines that it clearly appears from specific facts shown that there is danger of acts of domestic violence against the plaintiff or a minor child, the magistrate may order any relief set out in GS 50B-3 that the magistrate finds is necessary to protect them from such acts. [Note, however, additional showing required for order related to child custody.] If a magistrate finds that an act of domestic violence did in fact occur (i.e., the defendant committed one of the acts listed above against a person in a personal relationship protected by the statute), the magistrate MUST enter an order which at a minimum prohibits the defendant from committing any further acts of domestic violence. And the magistrate must do one other thing as well: the magistrate must question the plaintiff about defendant's ownership or access to firearms. (Does the defendant have access? Does the defendant own or have access to ammunition? A permit to purchase firearms? A permit to carry a concealed firearm?)

The magistrate must ask about the information above in every case, but in some cases the magistrate is required to go further and specifically order the defendant to turn over to the sheriff all guns, ammunition, and permits within his custody or control. This order is mandatory if any of the following factors are present:

⁴ The statute specifically states that this behavior may include, among other things, written communication, telephone calls (including voice mail), email, faxes, and pager messages.

1)	The defendant has at some time in the past used or threatened to use a deadly weapon.
2)	The defendant has a pattern of prior conduct involving the use or threatened use of violence with a firearm against people.
3)	The defendant has made threats to seriously injure or kill the plaintiff or minor child.
4)	The defendant has threatened suicide.
5)	The defendant has inflicted serious injuries on the plaintiff or minor child.
depen 50B-3 1)	agistrate has authority to grant a wide range of additional relief to the plaintiff, ding on the particular circumstances of the case. These remedies are listed in GS and include granting the plaintiff possession of the parties' shared residence, and ordering the defendant to leave the home; determining which party has the right to possession of personal property during the time the order is effective, including possession of family pets; and ordering the defendant to stay away from the plaintiff, as well as specific places such as the plaintiff's workplace and homes of family members.
The m	agistrate is often asked to make a determination of temporary custody of minor children residing with one or both parties. The magistrate is explicitly prohibited by GS 50B-2(c)(1) from doing this, unless the magistrate finds that . . .

... the child is exposed to a substantial risk of physical or emotional injury or sexual abuse.

If a magistrate makes this finding, s/he may then go on to order that the defendant stay away from the minor child, return the child to the plaintiff, or not remove the child from the plaintiff. In support of this order, the magistrate must make a formal finding that the order is necessary for the child's safety.

ANSWERING QUESTIONS ABOUT DVPO'S

Every magistrate should know the answers to the following questions, and those answers sometimes vary from one county to the next—and one magistrate to the next, depending on your personality, the shift you're working, and other circumstances. Magistrates should be guided by two fundamental principles in responding to these questions:

Providing information to citizens about the court system's response to domestic violence is an important part of your job; and

You have a responsibility to be certain that the information you provide is accurate.

- 1. How do I get a DVPO?
- 2. How much does it cost?
- 3. What do I have to prove to get one?
- 4. What if the defendant violates the order?
- 5. How long will it last?
- 6. Can I get one for my kids and family too?
- 7. Do I need a lawyer to get one?
- 8. Is there anyone that can help me fill out the forms?
- 9. When will the defendant find out about it?

Oth	er Questions?

In many counties, the clerk's office or local agency offering assistance to domestic violence has prepared brochures or other handouts providing victims with answers to these questions. In every case, the magistrate should be certain that the citizen is informed that there are no court costs associated with seeking a DVPO, and that an attorney is not necessary to access these services.

If you surrendered your firearms, ammunition, and permits, you may file a motion for the return of weapons with the clerk of court in the county in which this Order was entered when the protective order is no longer in effect, except if at the time this Order expires criminal charges, in either state or federal court, are pending against you alleged to have been committed against the person who is protected by this order, you may not file for return of the firearms until final disposition of the criminal charges. The form, "Motion For Return Of Weapons Surrendered Under Domestic Violence Protective Order" AOC-CV-319, is available from the clerk of court's office. If you fail to file a motion for return of the weapons within 90 days after the expiration of this Order, or the final disposition of criminal charges pending at the time this Order expired, or if you fail to pay the storage fees within 30 days after the Court enters an order to return your weapons, the sheriff may seek an order from the Court to dispose of your weapons.
