

RAILROAD CROSSING--RAILROAD'S DUTY OF CARE--DUTY TO PROVIDE SPECIAL WARNING AT EXTRA HAZARDOUS CROSSINGS.<sup>1</sup>

Where a railroad crossing is peculiarly and unusually hazardous to travelers who try to cross it, the railroad has a duty to exercise ordinary care in providing reasonable protection for those who use the crossing including, where the circumstances warrant, installation of safety devices at the crossing.

A violation of this duty is negligence.

---

<sup>1</sup>R.R. Co. v. City of Winston-Salem, 275 N.C. 465 (1969); Parrish v. R.R., 221 N.C. 292 (1942).

