

CONTROLLED-ACCESS HIGHWAY--DRIVING IN IMPROPER LANE, WRONG WAY. G.S. 20-140.3(3).

The motor vehicle law provides that the operator of a vehicle on any controlled-access highway¹ is required to drive in the proper lane provided for that purpose, in the proper direction and to the right of the central dividing [curb] [separation section] [line].

A violation of this law is negligence within itself.

¹The statute applies to both interstate and other controlled-access highways.
