The defendant has been charged with participating in dog fighting or baiting.

For you to find the defendant guilty of this offense, the State must prove two things beyond a reasonable doubt.

First, that the defendant

(a) [instigated] [promoted] [conducted] [was employed at] [provided a dog for] [allowed property under his ownership or control to be used for] [gambled on] [profited from] an exhibition featuring the [fighting] [baiting] of a dog.] (or)

(b) [owned] [possessed] [trained] a dog to be used in an exhibition featuring the [fighting] [baiting] of that dog.] (or)

(c) [participated as a spectator at an exhibition featuring the [fighting] [baiting] of a dog.]

And Second, that the defendant did this intentionally,<sup>1</sup> that is without justification or excuse.

If you find from the evidence beyond a reasonable doubt that on or about the alleged date the defendant intentionally

(a) [instigated] [promoted] [conducted] [was employed at] [provided a dog for] [allowed property under his ownership or control to be used for] [gambled on] [profited from] an exhibition featuring the [fighting] [baiting] of a dog.] (or)

the [fighting] [baiting] of that dog.] (or) it would be your duty to return a verdict of guilty. If you do not so find or have a reasonable doubt as to one or both of these things, it would be your duty to return a verdict of not guilty.
