8:30 – 12:15 Introduction to Community Development – Tyler Mulligan

During this session, participants will be introduced to the theory and practice of community development, including the legal authority for NC local governments to engage in community development activities. A framework for understanding the comprehensive nature of the field of community development—and the organization of this course—will be provided.

Two 10-minute breaks (approximately 9:45 and 11:00)

12:15 – 1:15 LUNCH

1:15 – 2:45 Planning for Community Development: Visioning – Rick Morse

This session will introduce a process for identifying a community's assets and strengths, then identifying appropriate community development goals and strategies to address community challenges while leveraging those assets.

2:45 – 3:00 BREAK

Assets and Strategies

- 3:00 – 4:30 Land Use Issues in Redevelopment and Revitalization – Adam Lovelady
By the end of the session participants should understand: what planning tools and programs are being used by North Carolina cities and counties; what role municipal and county government departments and boards have in planning; how territorial jurisdiction is determined; and planning issues associated with redevelopment and revitalization efforts. [Community Capital: Physical, Natural]

Homework

To prepare for tomorrow morning’s session on the Role of Affordable Housing, please complete the following:

- 1. View the first 20 minutes of the NHC webinar dated February 13, 2015, entitled “Understanding Housing Needs in Your Community Using Data from the American Community Survey,” at this website: <http://www.nhc.org/#!2015-ac-s-data/cmm6n>.*
- 2. Read the short article by Billy Ball about Chapel Hill’s affordable housing and the New York Times article about homeownership. The articles are in your binder.*
- 3. Your binder contains the NCHFA State of Housing report. Find your county in that report and then review the Orange County housing profile.*

Community Development Academy
Session II
April 11-13, 2017

Agenda

School of Government, Chapel Hill, NC – Room 2401

Tuesday, April 11

- 8:30 – 9:30 Equity Issues in Community Development – Tyler Mulligan
Equity is at the core of community development efforts, so understanding different conceptualizations of equity is important to successful community development. This session explores equity and its various facets.
- 9:30 – 9:40 BREAK

- 10:30 – 10:45 BREAK

Organizational Considerations

- 10:45 – 12:15 Evaluating Your Success – Maureen Berner
Community development project administrators need to keep an eye on the past to make more effective decisions in the future. The process of learning from experience and adapting are critical to increasing the impact of CDBG initiatives. This session will focus on practical evaluation issues and skills. Participants will consider the reasons for evaluation and how to plan an evaluation that fits the community and the organization. It deals with identifying desired outcomes that are clear and appropriate. It provides ideas on how to attach measurable, relevant indicators to these outcomes. It also suggests ways in which information may be collected in efficient ways. By the end of the session, participants will understand: what is evaluation and why it is important, evaluation terminology, challenges of evaluation, components of useful evaluation, implementing an ongoing evaluation process, & making use of information collected.

12:15 – 1:15 LUNCH

1:15 – 2:45 Community Participation in Community Development Projects – John Stephens

This session will explore the ways in which community developers can engage the community effectively. This session will discuss the benefits and risks of community involvement. It will introduce a range of involvement levels (communication, consultation, and participation) in planning, problem solving, and decision making. Participants will be encouraged to consider the most appropriate approach for their program. By the end of the session, participants should understand: the levels of community participation in community development, the benefits and pitfalls of community participation, the central values for an effective public involvement process, how to set priorities for a public involvement strategy, and how to identify audiences and understand their needs and interests.

2:45 – 3:00 BREAK

3:00 – 4:30 Economic Development – Jonathan Morgan

This session will describe key concepts of economic development, focusing on the relationship between economic and community development. [Community Capital: Physical, Natural, Financial, Social]

Wednesday, April 12

8:30 – 10:15 Purchasing and Contracting – Norma Houston

This session will focus on the legal limitations imposed by North Carolina law concerning purchases and contracts associated with a community development program. By the end of the session participants will understand: the dual purposes underlying purchasing laws; what kinds of contracts require bidding; what dollar amounts trigger the competitive bidding statutes; basic requirements for "informal" and "formal" bidding; and special rules for the construction of buildings.

10:15 – 10:30 BREAK

10:30 – 12:00 Conflicts of Interest and Ethics – Norma Houston

This session will focus on ethical issues and legal limitations on conflicts of interest that may arise in the administration of a community development program. By the end of the session, participants will understand: the ethical issues they may encounter as community development program administrators, and the legal limitations on receiving private gain from public office (including conflicts of interest prohibitions and limitations on accepting gifts and favors under both North Carolina law and the federal Grants Management Common Rule).

12:00 – 1:00 LUNCH

1:00 – 2:30 Local Government Transparency Requirements – Frayda Bluestein

At the end of this session, participants should be able to describe the basic requirements of North Carolina's public records and open meetings laws; identify a public agency's obligations under these laws; and determine whether a particular private organization is, or is not, subject to these laws based on their connections to a public agency.

2:30 – 2:45 BREAK

- 2:45 – 4:00 Practitioners Roundtable – Panel
Loryn Clark, Town of Chapel Hill
Karen Kennedy, City of Sanford
Dan Kornelis, Forsyth County

Thursday, April 13

8:30 – 9:00 Review / Independent Study Time

9:00 – 12:00 Grant Writing and Management – Catherine Clark

This session will provide an overview of federal grant management practices, including programmatic and fiscal compliance. Recent changes in grant requirements under uniform guidance will be reviewed. In addition, the session will provide best practices for effective grant writing.
15-minute break at approximately 10:30am

12:00 – 4:00 EXAM (with box lunch)

This open-book, online exam may be taken in a School of Government computer classroom or from the student's home or office. Each student receives a unique exam (the exam software generates a different set of questions for each student), and each student is expected to complete the exam with no outside assistance. The exam is designed to be completed in two hours, but four hours are allotted to the student. The online format requires students to commence and complete the exam during a specific time period and to maintain a strict time schedule. Students passing the exam and meeting the attendance requirements for the course will receive a certificate. The certificate will be mailed to the address on file with the School of Government. More details will be provided in class by the exam proctor.
